A student may not be issued both an I-20 and a DS-2019.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS

The language of instruction at the University of Tennessee is English, except in cases of advanced foreign language classes. Each applicant whose native language is not English must submit the results of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). Official scores must be submitted directly to the University of Tennessee from the Educational Testing Service. A minimum score of 550 for paper-based test, 213 for computer-based test or 80 for internet-based test (iBT) is required for admission consideration. The score must be no more than two years old from the requested date of entry. Some departments require higher scores. Applicants who have received a degree from an accredited U.S. institution in the past two years are exempt from the TOEFL requirement.

ENGLISH PROFICIENCY

Any person whose native language is not English must pass an English proficiency examination given by the University prior to initial registration. Students whose performance on the examination indicates a need for additional English study must enroll immediately for English 121 - English Grammar Review for Non-Native Speakers (or another course assigned by the English Department) for undergraduate credit and pass with a grade of C or better. A student may not take more than 9 additional hours of coursework while enrolled in English 121. Students whose scores indicate that they are not prepared to enter English 121 will be referred to a program of intensive English study prior to enrolling in an academic program.

Persons whose native language is not English must pass an oral test in English (the SPEAK test) before they can be assigned to classroom duties in connection with assistantships. The SPEAK test is administered on campus by The Graduate School. Scores from the Test of Spoken English (TSE) may be accepted in place of the SPEAK test.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Costs

Before admission can be completed, an applicant must document sufficient funds for the first 12 months living period. Part or all of this amount may be provided in the form of a scholarship or graduate assistantship. The amount required for the 2006-2007 year was $29,232 and is subject to change.

NOTE: The University of Tennessee cannot assume financial responsibility for international students.

2006-2007 Estimate of Expenses

Tuition .....	$16,840
Program Fees .....	500
Technology Fee .....	200
Facilities Fee .....	360
Health and Accident Insurance .....	800
Books and Supplies .....	1,350
Meals/Food .....	3,000
Housing .....	3,650
Transportation Fee .....	32
Miscellaneous .....	2,500
TOTAL FOR 12 MONTHS .....	$29,232
Extra expense for spouse .....	8,000
Extra expense for each child .....	4,000

NOTE: This budget assumes the student does not attend the summer semester. Also, this is a relatively conservative budget for a student who budgets carefully and is willing to share living quarters with another student. While some students may need less money, others find that they spend more than this amount. This estimate does not include the cost of international travel or operating an automobile.

Graduate assistantships, involving teaching, research, or other responsibilities, are available to graduate students on a limited and competitive basis. Applications are generally available through the academic department. Assistantships offer tuition fee waivers and a monthly stipend. Many departments offer assistantships to only a few students and only after the first year of study.
